Our Learning

This month in reading we will finish up The Courage of Sarah Noble and will finish our art collaboration project in each classroom! We are in the process of building large scale dioramas of the home John Noble built for his family.

Coming up in math we will finish our study of multiplication and division and start to think about how to collect data and the types of bar graphs we can create to represent our information. We are also continuing the conversation about ways to treat each other and making the best choices with our words & actions.

New & Noteworthy

Behavior slips will NO LONGER be sent home every Friday – please be on the lookout for these monthly grade level newsletters instead as well as phone calls & emails from your child's teacher!
