This Month's Learning & Activities

Happy Fall! Our 6th graders have been actively studying Ancient Egypt for the last 2 months and soon they will be moving onto a new realm to explore! Last month we were about to visit the Peabody Museum in New Haven, where our students were able to explore Ancient Egyptian artifacts. They even got to see a mummy up close! In math, we are still working on ratios and relating them to real life situations. Students are finishing their first novel, "The Hunger Games" this week!

Notes, Reminders & Tips

- * There will no longer be School Runner slips being sent home each Friday. Teachers will remain in contact with parents through emails and phone calls.
- * Please continue to check our teacher websites for useful tips and videos regarding lessons being taught within the classroom.
- * Students are being assigned weekly lessons on iReady. Please encourage your child to complete at least 5 lessons per week.
- * If your child is out and you would like their work sent home with a sibling, please contact their teacher.
